By GERTRUDE GIBBS

The dominant note at the meeting of the Glendale Advancement association Thursday noon was a challenge to finish the projects it has started and not consider that they have been put over until they have materialized in actual dollars and cents.

This was precipitated by the report of Charles Stanley concerning some of the smaller subscriptions ranging from $5 to $100, which the committee had been unable to collect, the subscribers offering a variety of excuses. Dr. Stewart called attention to the need for more collectors and the committee was authorized to add to its numbers from among the membership, several present volunteering to help.

MEXICAN SHACKS STILL PROTESTED

Pacific Electric Contractors Place Screens
About Houses

The activity on the part of the Pacific Electric company with the apparent intent of placing Mexican families in the shack that was constructed by that company several months ago close to the intersection of Central avenue and the wash in North Glendale, has resulted in an increased volume of protests against this procedure being registered by the residents of that northern locality.

During the past few days employees of the Pacific Electric company have been engaged in placing screens over the windows and doors of the shack. This activity, according to Francis J. W. Henry, has led the people of that section to believe that the company intends placing Mexican families in the shack in the near future.

The residents on Doran and Central in the region of the shack, according to Mr. Henry, are at this time preparing a protest, which when fully signed will be sent to Supervisor Wright, with the request that he devise ways and means of removing the shack. Some time ago, Mr. Henry states, a protest was sent to Mr. Wright, but so far as he knows, no action toward the removing of the shack has been taken.

JAP DIPLOMATIC ENVOY TO POPE

TOKIO, Jan. 10.—Japan has decided to appoint a diplomatic envoy to the Vatican. It was declared today on the highest authority.

This authority stated that it had been finally decided to name "an able envoy," and that this action would be taken "despite protests of the Buddhists."

Buddhist parties, it was learned, have launched a vigorous nationwide campaign against the government's proposal.

DEBATING CLASS TEAMS CHOSEN AT HIGH

To Meet San Diego in a
Verbal Clash on January 26

The try-out of members of the debating class conducted by Mr. Brewster of Glendale High resulted in the selection of affirmative and negative teams to participate in the debate of January 26th with San Diego teams as follows: Affirmative—Isabel Tousey and Sidney Williams; negative, Katherine McNary and Harold Majors. The question to be debated is: "Resolved, That the war debt of the French Republic to the United States should be cancelled."

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

A meeting of members of the Girls' Athletic club who expect to go hiking, is called for Thursday, January 11, at 5:15 p. m.

Alley Cat Wins N. Y. Blue Ribbon

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Snoozer boy is just a common old cat from the can-filled alleys of the east side, but Snoozer Boy today is about the best cat in New York.

With sore eyes, fleas, a mangy back and ribs sticking out like a washboard, Snoozer was picked up a year ago by "Little Joe" and Antoinette, "Big Joe" Frasiota's kids.

One year of careful ministrations and good feeding worked wonders with Snoozer and he knocked his old feline acquaintances of the alleys and fire escapes almost dead last night when he returned for the regular nocturnal gatherings with a medal that he had won at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel. Most cats of his acquaintance couldn't get within a mile of the Waldorf.

Snoozer was declared by the judges at the Atlantic Cat Club show to be the best cat exhibited in the non-championship class, and they gave him first prize.

MERCHANTS TO INSPECT CHECK LOOT

Arrest of Unings Who Passed Bad Checks Reveals Cache of Goods

Pasadena Police Holds
Property for General
Identification

A company of Glendale merchants will journey to Pasadena within the next day or two to see if they can identify any of their goods in the half-car load of material which was secured through the passing of fraudulent checks by a couple supposed to be Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Uning. Just as soon as the police department of Pasadena can arrange the things in shape for the identification tour the Glendale merchants interested will make the trip to the neighboring city.

The fact has just come to light that a man, supposed to be J. W. Uning, also cashed a number of checks in Glendale, according to Secretary Pilling of the Glendale Credit Association. Uning, Mr. Pilling claims, presented checks to Glendale merchants signed by J. W. Morris as secretary of the Standard Iron Works, with offices in the Union Oil company building in Los Angeles. These checks, which were about eleven in number, were made payable to Gilbert Beckett, who was supposed to live at 212 West California.

According to Mr. Pilling no such company exists as the Standard Iron Works, and no one by the name of Beckett ever lived at 212 West California avenue. The names of J. W. Morris and Beckett were both fictitious, according to Mr. Pilling, who states that it appears that Uning made out the checks payable to Beckett, signing the name of J. W. Morris, secretary for the iron works. Thereafter, he went to the local merchants, cashed the checks and endorsed them as Gilbert Beckett.

The eleven checks passed by the man supposed to be Uning total about $300, and the five checks issued by Mrs. Uning totaled a similar amount. The checks passed by the woman were, according to Mr. Pilling, signed by J. W. Uning and made payable to Mrs. Uning.

BROADCASTING IS PLANNED FOR NEW HIGH SCHOOL

Principal to Reach All the Class Rooms at One Time

Plans for the new high school, as announced, include wiring for an electric broadcasting system, in use in many of the schools in the north, under which the principal will be able to communicate an announcement to all the class rooms in the building, which will be so amplified as to be heard by all the pupils there assembled.

LOYAL BIBLE CLASS

The meeting of the Loyal Women's Bible class of the Christian church will be held next Friday, 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. H. E. Cox, 605 East Lomita avenue.

ANNEXATIONISTS BEGIN TO APPEAR IN PHONE CANVASS OF THE PUBLIC SENTIMENT

Big Drive Is Coming From the Annexationists in An Effort to Close Up Their Petitions and Force the Election on the Petition

REGISTER NOW AGAINST ANNEXATION

REGISTRARS:

Mrs. Grace E. Holman 533 West California
Mrs. M. E. Myton 612 East Broadway
L. W. Ball 363 West Elk
Mrs. Harry Greenwalt 408 Oak
Mrs. F. M. Ryan 332 West Acacia
F. S. MacDougall 453 West Colorado
W. Q. Widdows Glendale Daily Press

Annexationists began to show in the Glendale Daily Press telephone canvass of sentiment this morning. Two were found to voice desire for alliance with Los Angeles. Two were also found to be for Glendale.

Reports from the annexation headquarters indicate that within a few days an intensive drive to continue three days will be staged in an effort to conclude the agitation, secure enough names for the petitions and force an annexation election.

This follows a period of inertia covering ten days just passed.

The news is of particular importance to those who have not yet registered and entered their names on the list of Glendale voters of the county and are therefore not ready to vote for or against annexation, should the opposition succeed in forcing the matter to a showdown.

The list of registrars for Los Angeles county who are ready and willing to take your registration are given here. If you have moved since your last registration you should register again.

If you have never registered, you should register now, for the number of names required on the election petitions is regulated by the number on the list of registered voters, at the time the petition is presented to the council. The annexationists must have one name for every four on the duly registered list of voters in Glendale. So it is essential that all should register if the matter of getting signatures to the annexation petitions is to be made as difficult as possible. Mr. Widdows is at the Glendale Daily Press office, ready to register you if you are not on the voters' list, any time you call.

Mrs. Joseph Wagner, 416 West Myrtle street: "I am in favor of annexation of Glendale to Los Angeles. I think that it would be a good thing on account of the sewerage problem. We would have an outlet if we annexed to Los Angeles."

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Brummel, 415 West Wilson avenue: "We are in favor of annexation, as we think it is the only solution of the sewerage disposal problem for Glendale."

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wattles, 1213 South Glendale avenue: "We are strongly opposed to annexing Glendale to Los Angeles. We have always been for Glendale and cannot see where we would be benefitted by joining Los Angeles."

F. E. Greer, 326 Salem street: "I am against annexation. Let us remain an independent city."

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Cappell, 925 South Verdugo road: "We are certainly opposed to annexation to Los Angeles. And we expect to vote against it, should an election be held."

H. S. WEBB IS WEST SIDE FOLKS ENROUTE TO NEW YORK ELECT R. STREIT AS PRESIDENT

To Get in Touch With the Styles and Establish Buying Department

H. S. Webb, proprietor of the Webb Dry Goods store, left this morning for New York. He expects to be away from Glendale for about one month.

The sole purpose of Mr. Webb's visit to the eastern city is to establish an office there in order that he may keep in touch with the very latest styles the world over. While away he will establish a buyer in New York. This office will be a part of a syndicate of chain stores, the buying power of which will be much greater than is possible by the individual establishment.

While away Mr. Webb expects to glean many valuable ideas with regard to his business, and many of these he will incorporate in his new store in Glendale.

NEW FERTILIZER IS DISCOVERED IN GERMANY

BERLIN (By mail).—German agricultural chemistry has developed a new fertilizer of an earthy, turf-like substance, which it is claimed develops a crop more fully than any other fertilizer now in use. The new discovery, just announced, was developed in secrecy. It was discovered that it would be possible to increase many fold the number of bacilli in soil, thereby increasing greatly the nitrogen productivity of the soil in which they worked. The method by which this fertilizer is obtained is not made public. However, it is declared it is a rich bacteria culture developed in an earthy substance similar to the turf of swamps and lowlands. The new fertilizer, according to information, is also very cheap.

CONNER TRIO SINGS

Rev. H. C. Mullen Preaching Strong Sermons
Every Night

BY O. L. KILBORN

It was "Fathers and Sons" night at the Pacific Avenue M. E. Church last evening and the center section of the auditorium was filled to overflowing by men and boys while all other sections were crowded. A delegation of 20 earnest members of the Burbank M. E. congregation occupied seats reserved for them.

Promptly at 7:40 Mr. Conner, of the well-known trio, opened the song service. After two songs by the entire audience the Burbank delegation sang a number chosen by the pastor, Rev. T. F. Allen. This was well done and was heartily applauded. Then Mr. and Mrs. Conner and Mrs. Nera sang the sweet old Southern melody, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," by special request, after which the men sang in splendid style and with great feeling "The Ninety and Nine." A most affecting reading, "Dood Night Papa," by Mrs. Nera, followed and then Rev. Allen of Burbank led in prayer. Mr. Conner's solo, "Where is My Wanderling Boy?" with refrain softly chanted by Mrs. Conner and Mrs. Nera, closed the song service and Rev. Mullen began his sermon.

The text was from the third chapter of John's gospel, "Except a man be born again he cannot see God," and the subject was "New-born Men." The speaker said in part: "When Jesus made to the Pharisees the simple statement of my text, this man of education and refinement was astounded. Used to the subtle reasoning of his class he could not understand the simple, commonplace saying of this gentle Jewish teacher and he expressed his astonishment. Yet there was no mystery in it. Men are prone to sin. Call it hereditary depravity or what you will the fact stands out that men turn easily to transgression of the law and it is a reasonable conclusion that they must change utterly, be born again, in order to see God and be worthy of His love.

"A great agnostic used to go about the country lecturing and one of his catch phrases was: 'If I were God I would make health catchers instead of doctors.' And that is just what God did. The example of one who observes the laws of nature and thereby attains to perfect health is emulated by many, just as spiritual living attracts others and they are led to follow the wise example set.

"The divine touch is necessary if one would become sinless. The tiger and the cat are of the same family, yet one is a ferocious man-eater and the other a child's pet. But the tiger nature is but covered up in the cat. Just so man's evil nature can be eradicated by following the Master's teaching and he is 'born again.' Sin is a staggering fact, which we cannot get around but the new birth changes the sinful man to a Christ follower. Heaven begins here on earth to him who heeds the truth and yields his life to the Master's cause."

The meetings will continue through next week, so great is the interest. Friday evening the children will give the song service, as usual, and a great program is promised.

The visitors from Burbank last night were: Rev. T. F. Allen and wife; Mark S. Van Loven, wife and little son, Sanford, formerly of 431 W. Colorado, Glendale; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Siviter, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Skeen, Mrs. Sharpe, Mrs. A. O. Kendall, Miss Theo. Beeson, Mrs. Gardner, Miss Sadie and Minnie Norris, W. H. Holloman and W. E. Kirkpatrick.

BOARD OF EDUCATION REFERS FOREST AVE. EASEMENT TO MEETING

Resolves to Have Question Threshed Out by Joint Meeting of City Council and Improvement Bodies for Unanimous Action of All Forces

SOUTH SIDE RECOMMENDATIONS ADOPTED

Advisory Committee Tentatively Holds to Original $31,500 Appropriations for Two Schools in That Part of the City

Members of the board of education at their meeting Tuesday night took action in connection with the widening and improvement of Forest avenue, for which they have been asked to deed or grant easement for 12 feet, to be taken from the Cerritos campus. Mr. Stone, assistant city engineer, presented a letter outlining action taken by the city council, and Dr. Stewart represented as chairman a committee appointed by the Glendale Advancement association. It was the joint recommendation of these two gentlemen that the board proceed to grant the proposed deed or easement.

Instead, the board passed a resolution requesting the city council to call a conference to be composed of representatives of the city council, board of education, Glendale Advancement association, South Glendale Improvement association, Cerritos Avenue P. T. A. and the San Fernando Boulevard Improvement association, to thresh out the questions involved in the improvement of Forest avenue and reach a solution satisfactory to all the interests involved.

Col. James Everington, Mrs. Eselman, Ernest Morgan, of the subcommittee of the advisory committee of fifteen, and W. E. Hewitt, chairman of the advisory committee, met with the board and reviewed with it the report of the mass meeting held at Cerritos Avenue school Saturday night, relative to improvements to be made at that campus and Magnolia Avenue school. It was agreed that as far as possible the recommendations of the mass meeting should be followed but that there be no enlargement of the proposed appropriation for those two schools of $31,500. The matter will be taken up with the full advisory committee at a session to be held Thursday evening prior to the mass meeting at the Wilson Avenue school and the final decision of the full committee will be incorporated in its recommendations to the mass meeting.

V. M. Hollister and Mrs. Charles Toll, represented Community Service, with a request that in preparing its budget for the coming year it include $1000 for recreation to cover the expense of summer playgrounds. The board passed a resolution acceding to the request.

The request of the Central Avenue P. T. A. that it be permitted to exhibit at the school for several days paintings by John Cotton was granted.

The school nurse was granted an appropriation of $15 for gasoline, with the understanding that she provide her own automobile.

Bids for supplies were referred to Business Manager Black for checking and report. Bids were received for two class room bungalows, one to be built at Broadway, 26 by 36, and one at Glendale Avenue Intermediate, 24 by 36, which will later be removed to Acacia Avenue campus to be used for kindergarten purposes. G. Edwin Murphy put in the lowest bids, viz., $890 and $935, with the understanding that interior finish and painting would be done by the repair men employed by the board. The board authorized the teaching committee composed of Messrs. A. A. Barton and Arthur Brown, in conjunction with Superintendent White, to employ additional teachers which may be needed the coming term, to the number of six.

POLICE AND FIRE DEPARTMENT TO GIVE BALL

Social Evening for Benefit of Relief Organization
Is Planned

The recently organized Glendale Police and Firemen's Relief association of which Detective Sergeant Royle of the police department is president, are planning to give their first annual grand ball in the near future. The object of the ball will be to raise money for the relief fund of the association. The officers include: Sergeant Royle, president; Captain Ralph Dodsworth of the fire department, vice president; Assistant Chief Fairfield of the fire department, treasurer; Detective Sergeant Simmons, secretary.

OLD P. E. STATION IN HANDS OF WRECKERS

Once Pride of Little City,
Now Yields to March of Progress

Shingles started to fly yesterday when wreckers began tearing down the old P. E. station to make room for the magnificent 6-story bank structure which will house not only the Security National and Savings institutions and the P. E. offices, but will provide many office suites and rooms in the upper stories.

It really seems too bad that restless city progress demands the demolition of this picturesque structure that is still in its lusty youth. Built in 1906, when the new P. E. double track system was constructed through wide-stretching barley fields and vineyards, the station seemed a lonely isle in a sea of desolate surroundings. But the coming city soon built up to it and all around, until now it is near the center of Glendale. Many postcard photos of this picturesque building have been sent to eastern friends by loyal Glendallians. But now its day is done, and soon it will be only a pleasant memory.

POLICE ARREST FOUR MEN ON SUSPICION

Found Near P. E. Bridge
in North Glendale
Early Today

A gang of suspects consisting of Sidney F. Smith, aged 20, of the Piedmont hotel, Los Angeles; Fred Marchand, age 25, New York hotel, Los Angeles; Tony Soto, aged 30, Crockett, Calif., and Tom Georgehan, age 36, of the New York hotel, Los Angeles, were picked up near the Pacific Electric bridge in North Glendale at 6 o'clock this morning by Officers Nunn and Baugh. They were taken to the police station and later locked in jail.

On account of the suspicious surroundings under which the gang was taken into custody, the quartette is being held for further investigation.

FOUND WANDERING
Arthur Smith, who, according to the police records, is suffering with a mental disorder, was found wandering the streets of Glendale Tuesday. He was later taken to his home in Sagamore Hills by Officers Royle and Simmons.

THE WEATHER
Southern California: Tonight and Thursday fair.
Los Angeles and vicinity: Fair and warm tonight and Thursday.

CLASSIFIED SATISFIES

Mrs. O'Conner, 308 Sinclair avenue, had a breakfast table, a sanitary couch and a child's crib for sale. She placed an ad in the classified columns of the Glendale Daily Press. She sold all of the articles.
Mrs. L. Sonntag, 119 South Glendale avenue, lost a milk fur neckpiece. She also placed an ad in the Press. The neckpiece was returned.

THE WEEKLY WASHINGTON LETTER of
The First National Bank of Los Angeles
Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank

Senator Shortridge is opposing in every way he can the proposal to relax the quarantine regulations designed to keep out fruit fly pests from the Hawaiian islands and Africa and Europe. A petition to relax the regulations to permit of greater importations of foreign fruits is pending before the Secretary of Agriculture, who has jurisdiction over such things. Through the Secretary's Federal Horticultural Board a hearing was arranged recently. Shortridge appeared as the representative of the California fruit grower and demanded that the regulations be strengthened if any change in them was made at all. He asked the board what use there would be in Congress considering and passing farmer-aid legislation to increase credits and better marketing conditions if ample protection was not given to the land and the crops already possessed by the grower. Once the pests, against which the quarantine is directed, gain a foothold in an orchard or a grove, the only remedy is the destruction of the entire grove by fire. The very ground itself must be treated as well. California has been spared the ravages of these pests so far, but they have gained footholds in other states at a loss of millions in dollars.

TUESDAY CLUB CROWDS HALL AT CONCERT

H. Kirchofer Leads Community Sing and Anniversary Is Marked

The magnificent audience which came out to enjoy the Tuesday club's musical program proved that the holiday vacation in which there were no regular meetings had whetted the appetites of members. Not only were all seats filled in Masonic Temple, but before the artists were introduced the space at the rear of the room was filled by ladies who were standing and others lined the walls half way down the outside aisles. That these might not be compelled to stand throughout the session they were invited to sit on the edge of the platform and the steps leading thereto. Even ex-presidents were glad to find rest there.

The usual hour was given to community singing led by Hugo Kirchofer, and the usual birthday march was made by the ladies who have celebrated anniversaries since the club last met, their birthday offerings totaling $7.11.

The surprise of the afternoon came when the president, Mrs. Daniel Campbell, unwrapped a mysterious globular package encased in green and gold which proved to be a handsome silver and green bowl for the new clubhouse and containing silver dollars to the number of 25. It was the gift of Mrs. Philip Parker and Mattie Parker, Mrs. Campbell explaining that on January 9, 1922, Mrs. Parker had entertained a group of ladies in celebration of her birthday and the same guests continued to meet for a social afternoon every two weeks, the group finally developing into the Tuesday Afternoon club. In celebration of that anniversary the gift was made. A standing vote of thanks was given the donors, with the president expressing the hope that others would do likewise.

Other items of business included a vote endorsing Mrs. John Urquhart, president of the Los Angeles District federation, as a candidate for the presidency of the State federation to be placed in nomination at the state convention to be held in Eureka; a donation of $5 toward the deficit in the Glendale float fund; the acceptance of a report made by Mrs. Collin Cable of returns of $20.20 from a cooked food sale for the benefit of the clubhouse and announcements of benefits to come; a card party to be given by the two groups of the Arts and Crafts section in Pearl Keller hall the evening of January 12, and the auction rummage sale to take place in the new Jensen building the week of January 22.

The first part of the program was given by Harold Proctor, who has a beautiful tenor voice and who was accompanied on the piano by Miss Just. He is an ex-service man who sang his way into the hearts of his comrades overseas and found himself dependent on his voice and the living it could make for him when he returned at the close of the conflict. He referred to the disappointment he had suffered in listening to singers who failed to make their audiences understand even when the words were in English; also his own difficulties in singing Italian and German songs which had been taught him by a Welshman. Finally, in a Kansasian, a newspaper critic had the courage to tell him how atrocious his foreign pronunciations were and to urge him to confine his numbers to English. It was not hard to convert himself to her view but he has ever since made a point of singing the translated words of all the songs of other nations that he attempts and of singing them in such a way that they will be understood. His contributions were hugely enjoyed and he was enthusiastically recalled for encore numbers, his list beginning with the composition of his friend, Wilford Sanderson, a London music master, and entitled, "Friend of Mine." It was followed by "Thrice Happy Day," from Wagner's "Meistersinger," an Italian selection, "This is the Day," an old Irish song entitled "She is Far from the Land," words by Thomas Moore, and arranged by Frank Lambert, the singer explaining it was written to commemorate the death of Robert Emmet; "Hawaiian Wedding Song" by Coleridge Taylor; a negro composer; another Irish song, "Macushla," by McMurray, and "Evening Song," by Blumen-thal.

Dr. Frank Nagel's musical setting for Bryan's "Thanatopsis," read with fine effect by his son, was wonderfully beautiful. It consisted of a few melodious motifs developed in dirge form linked together by descriptive musical phrases to interpret the beautiful imagery of the poem. Much of it was majestic and suggestive of the undertones of ocean waves on a rocky shore.

In response to the persistent applause which followed the number, Conrad Nagel explained that he and his father had never found a poem which could suitably follow Bryan's wonderful lines and that as a substitute his father would play one of his own compositions entitled "Night." It also was of rare beauty, its leading melody reminding one of plaintive Celtic tunes.

Never judge the keenness of a woman's intellect by the sharpness of her tongue. If a man has brains back of his forehead he never has time to consult a beauty doctor. Our idea of a credulous man is one who believes that one woman can treat another with silent contempt.

TRUSTEES AUTHORIZE EMPLOYMENT OF TEACHERS TO GIVE LESSONS

Half Pay for Sick Leave of Teachers Is Authorized

OTHER COURSES

Of interest to a great many people of Glendale, particularly those advanced in years, will be the action taken by the trustees of Glendale High at their meeting Tuesday evening, at which they authorized the employment of a teacher to conduct classes in lip reading for those whose hearing is impaired. Such classes in Long Beach have proved exceedingly popular. For that reason it has been deemed wise to establish them here if a sufficient demand develops for a class in late afternoon or one in the evening. Persons interested are asked to communicate with the office of the school.

The board also authorized the formation of a class in naturalization to meet a demand which has arisen, with the proviso, of course, that sufficient applications are received to justify. This will fall under the Americanization work which the government has asked the public schools to undertake. The board authorized the equipment of Manual Arts with a hot water tank to serve the lavatories of the building and enable shop workers to cleanse their hands properly.

The board also voted to adopt the policy of Los Angeles schools with regard to sick leave for teachers, granting half pay for ten days' sick leave during the school year and full pay for not to exceed two weeks, in the event that teachers are absent because of a quarantine established by the city.

The board also adopted the Los Angeles policy in the pay of the substitute teacher, whose salary rating shall be fixed by her experience. For substitute work she shall receive the same pay that a regular teacher of her rating would be given.

Dr. H. V. Brown was appointed to represent the board on a civics committee which is being organized by the chamber of commerce.

JACK LEVELLE IS DEAD AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Popular Glendale Youth Succumbs After Two Days' Sickness

The Glendale friends of Jack LeVelle were shocked to learn of his sudden death at noon Tuesday, January 9, 1923, at a Los Angeles hospital, following an illness of two days. Mr. LeVelle was 46 years of age. He leaves three children, Leslie, Russell and Audrey LeVelle and a widow, Mrs. Rose LeVelle, formerly Mrs. Rose Balerino of Hollywood, to whom he was married three weeks ago.

Mr. LeVelle until a few weeks ago had been a resident of Glendale for about eight years. He had been a business associate of James Horne of Glendale for twelve years up until a year and a half ago, when he went to work for Mr. Horne's nephew, Charles Carriere.

Funeral services will be held at the Church of the Immaculate Heart, Kennmore and Santa Monica Boulevard, Los Angeles, Thursday morning. High requiem mass at 10 o'clock.

AUTOMOBILES MEET WITHOUT DAMAGE

Automobiles driven by Fred C. Jaggle of Los Angeles and J. Cododa, 614 East Acacia avenue, collided Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the corner of Brand and Seneca. Little damage was done. A. H. Fellows, 305 Geneva, and Clarence Williams, whose address is unknown, were piloting automobiles that came together on Glendale avenue on Sunday. The damage was slight and no one was injured.

RENT SPECIALIST OPENS OFFICE HERE

G. H. Goodale, who for the past 15 years has been in the real estate business in Orange county, has just opened an office as a rent specialist, at 212 South Brand boulevard. He has already become a member of the Glendale chamber of commerce. Mr. Goodale will move his family to Glendale within a short time.

When you are offered something for nothing you should accept it, if you can afford to pay double its value.

R. T. W. CLASS HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION

Mrs. Doxsee Chosen Teacher and Mrs. Ruth Bentley President

The annual election of officers took place at the regular meeting of the R. T. W. class of the First Baptist church held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Roger Bentley, 715 North Central avenue, with Mrs. Bessie Maxwell presiding. [The following were chosen for the year: Mrs. Jennie Doxsee, teacher; Mrs. Ruth Bentley, president; Mrs. Bessie Abbey, first vice president; Mrs. Maude Van Wormer, second vice president; Mrs. Nellie Hill, secretary; Mrs. Cora Marple, treasurer.

The meeting opened with devotionals led by Mrs. Elwyn Ostrander. A very interesting letter was read from Mrs. McCrea of China, thanking her many friends of the R. T. W. class for their Christmas box. Splendid reports were given for the month and for the year's work. After the election of officers many words of appreciation were spoken to the past year's officers.

At the close of the business session refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Robert Ford, Mrs. Robert Morrow and Mrs. Roger Bentley.

We'll Say We Had An Enthusiastic Crowd Sunday

—About seventy-five people accepted our invitation to visit Signal Hill Sunday and see where BEMCO Syndicate No. 1 is going to drill for oil.

—These people saw with their own eyes the marvelous development of OIL on Signal Hill. Who would have dared to predict a year and a half ago, that the bringing in of the Shell Discovery well on Signal Hill would mean, in a remarkably short time, the development of California's wonder oil pool, whose sands of 500 to 1500 feet in thickness beggar comparison throughout the country?

—The city of Long Beach, now a booming metropolis of this giant industry, was slow to awaken to the great, slumbering wealth-giving pool below. Development was not hastened until 2000, then 3000, 4000 and 5000 barrel wells began to burst in one after the other—each demonstrating the unlimited possibilities of further development!

—City officials, doctors, merchants, lawyers—the whole populace—dropped work for the moment and entered with dead earnestness into the greatest game in the world—the quest for OIL.

—Now, over 125,000 barrels are pouring out daily—pouring into the hands of those courageous enough to invest. And that monster output increases and increases as the boundaries of this pool spread and spread. No one knows how far they will go.

—Hundreds of people are being made rich because they figured out their opportunity and ACTED while it lasted!

—For the first time in history, perhaps, a city municipality bids fair to become taxless. The City of Long Beach, according to latest figures, will have received during the year 1922, approximately $200,000 in royalties from city-owned properties. Their returns should be near $1,000,000 for 1923!

—The Crescent Oil Company has paid nearly 300 per cent dividends in six months.

—And so it goes—not a story of impossibilities, but one of amazing realities. To whom will future millions, yet uncovered, go?

—BEMCO No. 1 is your opportunity. This well will soon start drilling within 350 feet of Herwick No. 7, a producer which late Sunday afternoon spouted oil 200 feet over its derrick after being cleaned out.

—BEMCO No. 1 offers you the chance to get in on Signal Hill in company with a low capitalization.

—Will you be one of the fortunate ones?

—You can easily investigate BEMCO by going with us tomorrow at 11 a. m. Free trips daily with lunch. Make arrangements by phone.

PREDATORY FOLK MEET DISASTER

PORTLAND, Oregon, Jan. 10.—The year 1922 was an unhealthy one for predatory animals in Oregon. It has been estimated by the federal biological survey here that 40,000 predatory animals were destroyed by hunters, poison, bait, and traps during the year.

Livestock valued at $40,000,000, owned by farmers in this state are the unconscious beneficiaries of the efforts of 266 government hunters who are using every expert method to exterminate coyotes, bobcats, grey wolves, mountain lions, and bear.

The past year marked considerable increase in the slaughter over 1921. The biological survey accounted for the deaths of over 27,000 coyotes, 6322 bobcats, 687 large grey wolves, more than 150 mountain lions or cougar, and 114 bears. Thousands of coyotes died of poison in inaccessible places where their pelts could not be obtained as evidence, according to the survey estimate.

America's early settlers are those who pay up promptly at the first of the month.

PHOENIX TWIN EPIDEMIC
Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 10.—Maybe it's the climate, but anyhow there's a good chance that they'll come in pairs in Arizona.

Statistics made public today show that for the six months ending June 30, 1922, there were 39 sets of twins and one set of triplets delivered to mothers in this state—81 babies in all, out of a total of 3146.

HONOR EIGHTIETH BIRTHDAY OF MRS. C. STEPLER

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Stepler Give Party at Which "Grandma" Dances.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Stepler of 404 West Ivy street entertained a number of friends on Saturday evening, January 6, in honor of Mrs. C. Stepler's of Sequoia street 80th birthday. She is mother of Mr. Stepler of 404 Ivy street.

Dancing and cards formed the entertainment for the evening, and "Grandma" Stepler tripped "the light fantastic" with as much vigor as the young people. She has been a resident of Glendale for many years and despite her years is hale and hearty and an ardent booster for our fair city.

She shared some of the honors of the day with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. C. F. Stepler, whose birthday was celebrated at the same time.

Mrs. C. E. Sebastian, a daughter, entertained about twenty-five friends at a surprise dinner party for her earlier in the day at her home on Gardena avenue. Mrs. Stepler was the recipient of many beautiful gifts, mingled with showers of congratulations and good wishes.

ARTS AND CRAFTS TO GIVE CARD PARTY

The members of Arts and Crafts section No. 1, of the Tuesday Afternoon club, of which Mrs. Fred Deal is curator, and section No. 2, with Mrs. Harry James as curator, are planning to give a card party Saturday night at the Pearl Ketter studio, 109-A North Brand boulevard, at 8:30 o'clock. Brides and "gals" will be played. Tickets will be 50c and can be secured at the James phonograph and record shop, No. 5 Court shops, 211-213 East Broadway. The purpose of the party is to raise funds for the sections' part in furnishing the new Tuesday Afternoon club home.

BUSINESS WOMEN HOLD SOCIAL SESSION

Members of the Business and Professional Women's club to the number of about thirty, supped together at the clubhouse Tuesday evening and after the dishes had been washed and put away in true housewife fashion, were called to order for a business session at which officers and committee chairmen submitted reports. A number of the new members were present and introduced and were urged to accept the generous offer of Glen Dolberg to make photographs of them for the club album, without charge, that the pictorial record might be complete.

The president, Dr. Laura Brown, reported the pleasure which the club's donations of Christmas toys brought to the children at Monte Vista who had been quarantined for scarlet fever and all the toys destroyed. Christmas letters from former members, Miss Margaret Gross, who is now living in Santa Barbara, and Mrs. Nellie Hoffman, were read.

In response to a request from the chamber of commerce that some members be appointed to represent the club at a city meeting to be held January 16, Dr. Jessie Russell was named.

Announcement was made that the next regular meeting of the club to be held January 23, at the clubhouse will be a social affair which will take the form of a stunt party to represent the lines of business in which members are engaged, supplemented by a few program numbers. An impromptu program of games followed the business session which adjourned about 9 p. m.

SUNDAY SERVICES AT HOLY FAMILY

The Sunday services at the Holy Family Catholic church, of which Rev. Father James E. O'Neill is pastor, will include mass at 8:30, 8, 10 and 11:15 a. m. Sunday school will be held at 9 a. m. There will be baptisms at 2 p. m. Rosary, closing with benediction at 7:45 p. m. For the convenience of the congregation four masses will be held every Sunday.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC CLUB ENJOY BIG HIKE

Thursday, December 28, the date of the monthly hike of the Girls' Athletic club of Glendale Union high school, was a day of great joy for the members. They left Glendale at 6 a. m. and arrived at Orchard's Camp, Mt. Wilson, about 10 a. m. Snow was expected, but it rained instead, so the girls spent an enjoyable time inside of Orchard's Tavern, where good eats, a huge fireplace, music and dancing were the main attractions. As it was only a one-day hike, the girls started down the trail at 2:30, reaching Glendale at 5:30.

It was generally agreed upon that this had been the best time of the year. The next hike of the club will be a two-day affair on January 20 and 21. Mr. Wilson, proper, where they will visit the Observatory and spend the night at Mt. Wilson hotel.

PURELY PERSONAL

Mrs. Charles Glover of 414 West Myrtle street, left Glendale today for New York City, where she will remain for several months.

Truths in Epigram

If eyes were made for seeing, then Beauty is its own excuse for being.—Emerson.

Worthy books are not companions—they are solitudes; we lose ourselves in them, and all our cares.—Bailey.

Better to love amiss than nothing to have loved.—Crahe.

CONVICTING I. W. W.

A member of the I. W. W. charged with violating the anti-picketing ordinance has been found guilty. The jury needed but three minutes for formulation of its verdict. The prisoner had acted as his own counsel in the trial, and in consequence, had a bad lawyer. This man is one of a large number recently arrested, each demanding separate trial by jury. The supposed purpose is to so clutter the courts as to impede their regular and orderly functioning. A few three-minute verdicts would have a tendency to expose the flaws in the plan.

The members of the I. W. W. are under the peculiar disadvantage of branding themselves as criminal by the act of joining the order. The teaching and practice of sabotage, according to the statutes in force in California, is a crime. That the organization does teach and practice sabotage, probably would not be questioned now by any either inside or outside of it. Therefore when a defendant confesses membership, he stands confessed of a crime, whether or not it be the one with which he is charged specifically.

Labor has no worse enemy than the I. W. W. It does not represent labor, but discontent, communism and destruction. The cause it advocates definitely is fatally handicapped by such support. If anywhere in the principles of the society there may be found an element of good, it is smothered into ineffectiveness by the evil character of its setting.

HOOVER'S VIEWS HELP

It is cheering to observe the optimistic note that is projected into the world situation by the report of Secretary Hoover. He has almost unequalled opportunity for getting at the facts of the industrial and commercial situation everywhere. Studying the data collected at home and abroad, he formulates the opinion that the effects of war on business are passing, and that the general trend is in the direction of prosperity. In the prosperity he predicts, he expects the nations of Europe to participate. He says in the beginning:

"The world begins the year with greater economic strength than a year ago; production and trade are upon a larger and more stable basis, with the single exception of the sore spot in central Europe."

The ordinary spectator of international affairs is bound to get a more or less superficial view. He has no means by which to plumb the depth, but is sure to be impressed by that which in the end may prove to be froth and clamor. Therefore he is glad to accept the theory that Secretary Hoover is talking from knowledge, and that the knowledge is more profound than within direct reach of the citizen as an individual.

ROBBERY AND COMMON SENSE

Reports of the theft of jewels from individuals are frequent. Recently a woman, who had been a guest at a party in an apartment house, as she departed, was lured into another room, and stripped of gems said to have a value of half a million. Among the gems were diamonds, sapphires and ropes of pearls. The apparent design of the thieves had been to rob all the guests, an operation that would have doubled their loot.

In each of many banks there is a quantity of gold coin. It is treated on the theory that there are dishonest persons wishful of stealing it. Therefore, when any part of it is in sight, metal bars intervene between the money and the beholder. Later the gold is placed in a vault of notable strength, designed to frustrate drill or dynamite. It is not piled in the front window, with the window left unlocked. The banker would be rash who stacked the coin out on the pavement and left it there unguarded. Yet he would be acting with all the perspicacity of the woman who walks about unprotected with a fortune depending from her neck, another blazing in her hair, and a third illuminating fingers whitely free from the taint of toil. Such a woman extends a cordial invitation to thieves, and has not the slightest occasion to feel surprised at its acceptance.

Automobile thefts have gone far beyond a merely startling total. There is every indication that the thieves are well organized, and that they have capital, as well as places in which the stolen machines may receive disguises. There comes from San Francisco the broad intimation that many machines supposedly stolen, are at the bottom of the bay, dumped there by owners wishful of collecting the insurance. Well, perhaps so.

MORE ABOUT GAMBLING

A councilman of Los Angeles is quoted as saying that at one gambling room in that city $20,000 is taken nightly from dupes, and that $5000 is paid to somebody for protection. Public functionaries, and wild-eyed reformers have a habit of making statements of this character. When they are called upon for details, the allegation is likely to dwindle to a mere suspicion, then to be traced to idle gossip, and finally to be dissipated, having about the substantiality of so much hot air.

If there is such an establishment maintained in Los Angeles, and the councilman is aware of it, an early prompting of duty would be likely to cause him to communicate his knowledge to the police. If the directing minds of the police force already have the knowledge, and fail to act upon it, then manifestly they are unfit. The councilman easily could have them impeached and dismissed, oblige them to relinquish their share of the nightly $5000, and himself cause a descent on the den of iniquity, thereby winning much glory.

From the coign of vantage occupied by the outsider, it would appear that Los Angeles is having a tough time with the criminal element, including doubtless, a proportion of sure-thing gamblers. It would seem also that the chief of police is a man of high character, doing the best he can with an insufficient force, the force constantly changing because of the low pay received by subordinates. Citizens there have organized to combat the abundant criminal. Perhaps the councilman pained at his awareness as to a certain gambling center, will feel an impulse to raid the joint himself at the head of a body of citizenry. Surely it is up to him to do something besides talk.

The Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles, incidental to the erection of a vast modern building, floated a bond issue of $500,000. Not only were the bonds subscribed for within eighteen hours, but $114,000 that had been sent in had to be returned to disappointed seekers for investment. These circumstances tend to prove that the white spot, financially speaking, still belongs in this section of southern California.

Every wild-eyed theorist who finds that the conduct of this country does not suit his notions is showing a tendency to attack the constitution. He wants something added or taken away. The prospect is that the constitution, very much as it is, will outlive him, and that his protestations, now merely ignored, will be forgotten by reason of the tendency of people to concern themselves with matters of importance.

In the alphabet of egotism there is but one letter.

GOVERNMENT BY GUILDS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Government by guilds has from time to time been vigorously cracked up. The deficiencies of democracy are glaring. But the deficiencies of the minds who criticize it are more glaring.

Almost all of the fault of democracy arises from the fact that it is a growth, and the very idea of growth implies constant imperfections to be overcome with time. Many do not understand that you cannot have a sweet, ripe pear without first you have a sour, green one.

The pessimists and the cynics are spoil children who stand under the tree of life, bite into the green fruit untimely dropped, and curse the tree because all its fruit is not ripe the day it is formed.

Government by guilds is one of the many fantastic efforts to achieve perfection by a bound. It is easy to form a guild, a labor union, or a secret society. And because it is so easy the unbaked mind leaps at once to the conclusion that it would be a simple matter to compose a nation of such units.

Gawald Garrison Villard in 1919 said: "Changing the basis of our representation to the soviet form would not only give us a different government, but would give us a different feeling toward our government. We have lost all respect for our legislative bodies. I have found that the soviet in Moscow, which is composed of proletarians only, compares most favorably with the Albany and Harrisburg legislatures." The bolshevik government in Russia is in effect a government by guilds. At least it radiates a different from democracy in America by the fact that its unit of representation is not the individual human being, but the clan engaged in some sort of labor.

The guild idea is that the real component parts of a nation are the groups of workers, and that the legislature would be better composed of men representing plumbers, bricklayers, lawyers, physicians, teamsters and so on, than by a man representing Illinois, Cook county, or some other geographical unit.

The root trouble with the guild idea is that it assumes the fixity of classes. If it does not assume it, it makes for it. The root idea of democracy is that classes are temporary and fluctuating. The very fundamental idea of every American is that he does not have to remain in his class, and quite often that he does not intend to do so. Democracy keeps all the doors and corridors open between the classes. The soviet or guild idea bolts them.

Democracy is fluid, as life is fluid. It is a living, growing thing. The guild idea is fixed, boxed, and artificial, as all man's handiwork is artificial. Both the soviet system and democracy aim at the millennium. But democracy would grow the millennium. The soviet and the guilds and the socialists would construct the millennium with their clever saws and hammers after the specifications of Karl Marx or somebody else.

A labor movement which shall educate the common man as to his rights and duties, and shall equip him to take his place in the normal working out of democracy, is a good thing and is in line with evolution. But a labor movement whose end is found only in the organizing of iron-clad bodies of men after the manner of the Chinese secret societies, who act only for the motive of better pay and less work and only by the means of violence or the crippling of business, is undemocratic and un-American.

QUERIES

To L. W., New York: The following are correct: A friend of Miss Brown's; A friend of Miss Brown; a friend of hers; a friend of her; the first and third are good idiomatic English.

To W. M. Parcel, Streator, Ill.: The omission of that in the following sentence is correct: I suggest (that) you use great care in punctuation.

Songs of the Poets

To A Wood-Violet—By John Mannister Tabb (1845-1909)

In this secluded shrine,
O miracle of grace,
No mortal eye but mine
Hath looked upon thy face.

No shadow but mine own
Hath screened thee from the sight

Of Heaven, whose love alone
Hath led me to thy light.

Whereof—as shade to shade
Is wedded in the sun—
A moment's glance hath made
Our souls forever one.

A DANIEL COME TO JUDGMENT

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

"The world do move." Down in Quincy, Ill., a judge has kicked precedent into the limbo of abandoned things and given a brutal mother a good stiff fine for brutally beating her five-year-old son. Better still she got a term in jail.

What becomes of the revered "parental right" under that decision? It gets a swat in the solar plexus, praise be. The mother down in Quincy admitted to Judge Charles Naurert, who sentenced her, that her child had done nothing more vicious than to lose a shoe button; yet she beat him so severely that he was taken to a hospital for treatment.

In sentencing her his honor regretted his inability to give her the kind of treatment she had doled out to her unfortunate son, which shows, I hold, that his honor has a brain above the average brain of his time.

The woman gets three months in jail, which is light. The beating of children more than any form of brutality except only the beating of animals, rouses fury in my soul. In the last analysis no creature is ever beaten "for its own good." That cheap vicious lie has done service down the ages to excuse parents and owners who resorted to the lash because they had too little sense to invent better means of controlling children and animals committed to their care or, more often, purely to gratify a sense of power in the stronger creature.

It is an earnest of the dawning of a new day when judges begin to punish crimes of violence against the persons of little children. When parents are compelled to use brains instead of lashes we shall enjoy a higher grade of citizenship.

There is just one reason why anybody or anything is ever beaten, because they are too weak to defend themselves. Beating is the lowest kind of advantage over helplessness, and it is never practiced by any really noble specimen of the race. It is an anachronism and it is time it became a punishable crime.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

THE TARIFF CRITICIZED

[Louisville Courier-Journal]

Within the week three incidents indicate how the Fordney-McCumber tariff law begins to work.

From England come reports that commercial relations between Britain and the United States have been deranged by the operation of the American tariff schedules, with consequent reduction of manufacturing output there and deep resentment among the British people—the more especially among the manufacturing and laboring classes.

A German economist takes pains to point out at Berlin that reparations or other councils are little better than madness so long as the American tariff's insidious missiles of depression and disaster, starvation, and death, carry on their devastating work.

From Rio de Janeiro comes word that Brazilian exchange is falling so adversely to Brazil because of the Fordney-McCumber tariff that merchants at Rio are compelled to cancel orders for American goods, and to dis-honor drafts already "accepted" for payment of consignments, shipped from the United States to Brazilian ports.

What is true of Brazil is true in greater or less degree of every other Latin-American country.

Of European exchanges it is needless to speak. Outside Switzerland, the Netherlands and the Scandinavian peninsula there is hardly a European country that can now afford to buy American goods on even a moderate scale.

If continued—and there is no hint that the disaster will be in any degree halted by the present administration at Washington—the outcome of this economic policy is readily foreseen.

France is rightly indignant. Four years after the signing of the armistice she has not received a penny of reparation. The cost of repairing the devastated areas is estimated at $100,000,000. COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

A woman of thirty years, already the mother of seven, expects soon to bear another child. This she now seeks to give away. Her husband is invalided, and is unable to support with decent adequacy the brood now on her hands. With a baby in arms, it is not easy to see how she could be even in small measure equipped for the task.

There are comparatively few city families able to feed, clothe and educate seven children. The income of the single wage earner in such a family could not, under prevailing conditions, meet the pressing needs. The children would have to go ill nourished and ill clad, and each as soon as strength permitted, get out to earn its own living.

The spectacle of an impoverished and tired woman as mother at less than thirty years of seven children, and prospects, is not pleasing. There is much talk of the social obligation to bring many children into the world. It is in large part the talk of theorists who have no children of their own, but who, were they to study the facts, would know themselves incapable of caring for a flock.

When a man and woman, living from hand to mouth, are parents of seven children, the chances are that charity will have to provide for all or most of them; that they will not grow to useful citizenship, but will be a burden that society will have to carry to the end.

Instead of preaching the duty of the financially incompetent to increase and multiply, it would be better to preach to them the folly and injustice of creating superfluous swarms.

Advances in astronomy have been so marvelous that it now is possible to weigh a distant star. This is very interesting, but still the average house wife will continue to think that the weight of the meat the butcher sends is more vital.

Haywood is said to be down and out in Russia. This would put him on the level of the Russians themselves, and give him a tendency to feel at home in his exile.

There need be no sympathy for Haywood. By the sheerest luck he escaped being hanged years ago. Instead of being grateful, he devoted his time, until the moment he fled, in being a maker of trouble, the despoiler of the labor he professed to represent, and an active enemy of the country that had been far too good to him.

It is plain enough that unless France recedes from its position in demanding reparation at once, or selling German territory, the responsibility for the future of Europe is shifted to the shoulders of the French alone.

The other governments have given their several opinions. It would be impossible for the United States to umpire a contest in which one side already had made the decision.

Telephoning their desire to call on business, a trio got into the home of a Los Angeles capitalist, and from his glittering person amputated $30,000 worth of diamonds. So they had been telling the truth; their errand really was business.

Naturally a question arises as to why any man should decorate the fleshy habitat of his soul with diamonds amounting to a fortune. Another query comes to mind as to how he can think himself able to do this sort of thing and get away with it in the present reign of banditry.

Indulging in a fake wedding under any circumstances is reprehensible, but for a man already married, it is a dangerous undertaking. Such a wedding seems to have been brought to light, to the great scandal of a respectable family.

However, there always is the chance that an accusation of this character is founded on blackmail.

Members of the illicit drug rings seem to have begun killing one another. Of course the police have to look into each case, but it is to be hoped the habit shall not be discouraged.

It is said that a delegation of female "wets" sought audience with the President, but that he could not afford time to hear them. He did not even get near enough to hear them hiss when they received his reply.

If the wet ladies desire to have the constitution changed, the method is not by telling the President their desires. He has large power, but it does not extend to lifting pieces out of the constitution.

Chicago has a "boy broker," or did have until somebody broke him. He leaves business with assets of $150,000 available, and over against this $400,000 in debts.

Had the boy waited until grown, and then taken the plunge perhaps he might have attained a really spectacular failure.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

It's funny how two presumably sane and well balanced humans can agree perfectly on an essential and fight like a pair of turpentine cats over that essential's wholly unessential fringe. If you get what I mean.

Anyhow, the light of my life and her completely contemptible slave went to a nearby city last week on a matter of business. I had one of those sudden streaks of economy that run hot and cold up and down one's spinal column at times. It became necessary for me to save two or three dollars a day somewhere—preferably by mortification and prayer. Mrs. Pilgrim was then suffering from an overdose of remorse because she had bought herself an evening dress that was more nearly related to the rue de la Paix than to Main street.

"I'll tell you," she said, "we'll go to a cheap hotel. Even if the room isn't very good—we won't be in it very much."

So we did, and the room was frightful. Dark, dingy, dirty, upholstered in faded shades, each obscured by encrustations of dirt, bed curtains full of holes and hanging from the wrong corners, a bed that sagged in the middle and on the right side, where one sits to take off one's shoes, and trick mirrors of green glass.

"I would not have any one know we are here for fifty dollars," said Mrs. Pilgrim, with a view halloo.

"Neither would I," was the stalwart agreement from the money end of the household. "This is enough to ruin me."

Now, there you are. We were perfectly agreed on the essentials, to wit, that the hotel was the worst on record, that we did not propose to stay, and that we would never tell any one we had ever been there. Perfectly good natured and serene and calm up to this point. Then we began to nag each other.

"I would never have thought of coming here if you had not suggested saving money by going to a cheap hotel," was my thoughtful contribution.

"Take it out on me," chirped Mrs. Pilgrim, bitterly. "What did I know about this hotel? I thought you would have too much respect for your wife."

We were still fighting about it next morning when we woke up in a nice, new, clean hotel. And that is plain foolishness.

Incidentally the room was just as cheap at the good hotel as it was at the dump.

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG, GLENDALE

"When Knighthood Was in Flower," the big, stupendous Paramount special now playing at the T. D. and L. theatre, opened to crowded houses yesterday and was acclaimed by over 2000 Glendaleans as the most gorgeous, the most pretentious film ever made. Its unfolding disclosed the pages of history—an education and a wonderful entertainment as well. Do not fail to see "When Knighthood Was in Flower" if it's the last thing you do. It is worth every cent charged and you will not be disappointed. It will be continued at the T. D. and L. today and tomorrow only. Remember, only two days more.

Tonight the members of the Shrine club of Glendale will attend the performance at 8:30 p. m. in a body, which will mark a decided occasion and a most jovial affair. There will be several special features added to the program in their honor. Special prices prevail for this attraction, the same being matinee, general admission 55c.

Never have star and story been more admirably matched than in the presentation of Clara Kimball Young in "Enter Madame." Herself a glamorous personality, Miss Young plays, in this picture, founded on the stage success by Gilda Varesi and Dolly Byrne, the character of Lisa Della Robbia with a stateliness and whimsical charm that make perfect the illusion of impersonation. By all odds, "Enter Madame" is the best thing the star has done; here is a fine and finished and winning performance; and it goes without saying that this Metro picture constitutes an event.

THE FIRST 'STAR' IS BOUGHT BY F. L. NAGLE

Pays in Full for Machine and Takes It Away
With Him

"Up in Kern county, where we have been selling cars, it was extremely rare that we ever made a sale for all cash. Practically every sale was on time up there." So remarked J. F. Armstrong of the local Star agency.

"What was our surprise," continued Mr. Armstrong, "when F. L. Nagle, 409 South Central, walked in and planked down all cash for the first Star car sold by us. It nearly took our breath, and was just one of the many pleasant surprises we have met since becoming identified with the business life of Glendale. There is a different atmosphere down here, both literally and figuratively speaking."

The honor of being the purchaser of the first Star car sold by the local agency, going to Mr. F. L. Nagle, is no small distinction and will be more notable as the years go by. Wonder who bought the first Ford, Dodge, Studebaker and other makes from Glendale agencies? It would be a most interesting story if some one would dig up the information.

A man's idea of good luck is any old kind that leaves him a few dollars ahead of the other fellow's game.

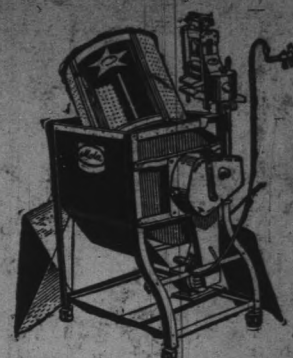

In entertaining no one should miss. It will be given tonight at the Glendale theatre, the first of a two days' run.

Like most of those of real merit, the story of "Enter Madame" is not complex or confusing, having to do with the attempt of a prima donna of the opera to win back her husband, who, through her neglect, has become so far attached to another, and what one might call a comely woman, as to be determined upon divorce from the great Della Robbia. Elliott Dexter, as the weakening husband, Gerald Fitzgerald, is sincere and likeable; Louise Dresser, as the soft and scheming Boston widow, is quite pleasantly hateful; and others in the cast, including Arthur Rankin, Mary Jane Saunders, Lionel Belmore, Wedgewood Nowell, Rosita Martin, Orre Deveraux and George Kuwa are more than competent. The picture, a Metro release, was reproduced by Harry Garson. The direction is by Wallace Worsley; the scenario by Frank Beresford. L. William O'Connell photographed it.

"When You Buy Advertising You Buy Circulation"

Why One Advertising Appropriation Was Increased

Two partners were debating their advertising policy—planning the campaign for the next six months.

Theirs is a retail store which spent in one year $12,000 on its advertising, which was 5% of their yearly volume, a fair expenditure in their line of business.

In growth of sales they could easily point out the home-coming of the $12,000 with a fair and reasonable profit in its train. For these two partners that expenditure was a profitable short-term investment.

One of the partners spoke up:

"John," he said, "we have a cash profit in the bank from that $12,000, but we have a greater intangible profit by far—it is piled up for us in the minds of every man and woman in the city.

"It is present in the minds of the manufacturers who sell us.

"It is reflected in the attitude of our bankers.

"It is working on the minds and purses of every one of our customers."

"Why," he continued, "this business, because of the advertising we have done, is worth $12,000 more than it was before we began."

The two partners increased their appropriation, modestly, it is true. That was five years ago. Today, for it is a large city, their appropriation is eight times their original amount. Their standing, with bankers, manufacturers and customers is A-1. Their business has grown and grown in a healthy way. And still, as one of them put it—

"In the last five years advertising has made money for us. Every cent we've spent has come back to us, and brought another with it. But, our real profit—our big profit from that advertising is banked in the minds of the people. Ours is the best known business of its kind in town. And that is worth a lot of money to us."

STATE AMERICAN LEGION TO PLAY BASKETBALL

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—Taking a more important part in the athletics of the state each year, the California Department of the American Legion has this year moved officially into the basketball court.

The state athletic committee has announced the arrangement of a basketball tournament which shall result in the naming of a state championship team, preliminary contests to be played in each congressional district by the teams in each district. Not later than February third the committee from each district will name the team to represent his district and the tournament will be on.

Competition will be limited to only the heavyweight or unlimited weight class. Teams must be made up of Legionnaires in good standing, and team managers may, if they desire, require a certified statement from the commander of the opposing team's post, naming those eligible to play.

For the play-off the state will be divided into four districts, each of which will be represented by the leading team in that district. The schedule for the final series between the four sectional champions will be announced by the end of February.

All the financial affairs, naming of officials, and similar matters, will be directed by the state athletic committee, which will settle all disputes and regulate the entire tournament.

Editor Glendale Press

Dear Sir: The article by John H. Gerrie in Saturday's issue, entitled, "Is Glendale Equipped for Rush of Population?" was very good. I would like the privilege of making a few suggestions.

About a year and a half ago, we moved down from the state of Washington for a visit to the Southland. We stopped at Pasadena, and from there made many tours in all directions. We were down here some time before we discovered Glendale.

In driving from Pasadena to Hollywood we missed the Broadway section. Hearing that a friend of ours was with the chamber of commerce in Glendale, we made him a visit. This took us into the new business district on West Broadway, where the chamber of commerce was then located. The

THE BROKEN DOLL

"The sawdust's out of my doll," said she,
And she looked and she cried so bitterly.
"She was such a lovely doll and fair,
And she had blue eyes and golden hair;
A doll to pet and a doll to keep,
And a doll to talk to and rock to sleep,
But she dropped one time and was hurt by the fall
And now the sawdust's out of my doll."

"The sawdust's out of my doll," she said,
As she stroked the cheeks and the curly head.
"She was very plump with a rosy skin,
But now she is pale and Oh, so thin.
And I've cried and cried for I loved her so,
The prettiest doll that a girl could know,
And she stood up straight, so big and tall,
And now the sawdust's out of my doll."

"Come dry your tears, Little Maid," I said,
"There may be hope in the days ahead.
I know there's a hurt and a great big crack,
But some day the sawdust may come back.
And many a time in this world, a fall
Has knocked the sawdust out of my doll,
And I've mourned like you and the day was sad
For the beautiful dolly that once I had."

"Did you have a doll?" said the Little Maid.
"Oh many and many a one," I said.
"Through all the years I have been about,
And they fell and let the sawdust out.
But the years went by, as they will with you,
And other came that were fine and new,
For dreams are dummies and they will fall
Sometimes till the sawdust's out of my doll."

impression we received from this new business district was so favorable that we decided to stay and make our home in Glendale. We found out during our trip down here that the tourists are the great advertisers. When we left Tacoma, Washington, we were advised to stop at Ashland, Oregon, auto park. We were not disappointed.

I believe a well equipped auto park is a live wire advertisement for any city. The tourists inform one another.

Supposing we were advised to put up at the Tourist hotel, corner San Fernando and Broadway, Glendale. Good garage accommodation; chance for a bath, etc.; centrally located; you can shoot right into the heart of Glendale, Brand and Broadway, on to Pasadena or to Hollywood or Los Angeles. As it is, there is nothing there to give tourists the glad hand and a chance to clean up. Tourists would rather put up at a hotel in Glendale and miss the congested traffic of a large town. If not at the above mentioned location, can you suggest a better one.

Thanking you very kindly for the space, I am very truly yours,
EMIL E. STEVENS,
Glendale Booster.

FATHER O'NEILL IS DONOR OF $100

The Rev. Patrick Dunne and Father James O'Neill, pastor of the Holy Family Catholic church, were among those present at the dedication of the Knights of Columbus clubhouse on Monday night. After announcing the donation of $100 from Bishop Cantwell for the building fund it was stated that Father O'Neill had given the first hundred dollars to the clubhouse.

H. I. Rasmus, Jr., of First Methodist, Begins Religious Education Work

The first meeting of the Week-Day School of Religious Education, which is in charge of H. I. Rasmus, Jr., was held Monday night at the First Methodist church. The professors who will have charge of instruction are Carl Knopf of the University of Southern California, who teaches a class in the ethics of Biblical history, and Mrs. Price of the University of Southern California, who teaches a class in the principles and methods of teaching. The school meets at the church every Monday night at 7:30 o'clock and an invitation is extended to the public to join in the classes.
